

About Vanguardia

For over a decade Vanguardia has steadily expanded and currently employs over 30 consultants across three UK offices (London, Surrey and Manchester), including a thriving team of specialists working in the field of environmental noise and vibration. Due to our expanding workload we are looking to add to this team.

Our portfolio currently comprises environmental noise and vibration assessments for a wide range of projects in various sectors including residential, mixed-use, commercial, industrial, sports and leisure. This includes schemes going to Public Inquiry and those requiring evidence to be presented to an Examining Authority as part of the NSIP and DCO process.

Job Title: Senior Environmental Acoustic Consultant

Location: Oxted (Surrey) or London

We are seeking a highly motivated Senior Acoustic Consultant to join our environmental acoustics team with the option to be based in either our London or Oxted office. Your role would be to strengthen our existing capabilities and contribute to the ongoing growth and development of the team and our client base.

You will be expected to undertake noise and vibration assessments and all aspects of project management including preparation of fee proposals, organisation of resources and liaison with the project team.

The ideal candidate will have:

- A degree in acoustics/a related subject, or post graduate qualification (e.g. Diploma in Acoustics and Noise Control);
- Corporate membership of the IOA;
- A minimum of 5 years' consultancy experience, predominantly in environmental acoustics;
- A full, clean UK driving licence;
- Excellent acoustic technical knowledge, communication and report writing skills; and
- Strong proficiency in the use of sound modelling software to predict environmental noise, as well as the use of spreadsheet based calculations.

Key benefits of the role are: a competitive salary package, flexible working hours, time off in lieu and an annual leave allowance of 25 days plus public holidays. You will also have the opportunity to join the company's private pension and healthcare schemes. In addition, there is a strong emphasis on training, CPD and good opportunities for career progression.

If you are interested in applying for this role, please send your CV and covering email to anne.thompson@vanguardia.co.uk.